Gene Aitken 金 阿 特 肯 美国著名JAZZ专家

Gene Aitken is considered one of the most energetic music educators today, and is recognized for his work in jazz education, wind ensemble conducting and computer technology. In October 2008, he conducted the first all-student jazz ensemble concert in China at the Shanghai Conservatory of Music. And in June 2008, he was the first Cultural Envoy to Nepal for the United States Department of State. Then in June 2007 Dr. Aitken was inducted into the DownBeat Magazine's Jazz Educator Hall of Fame as 2007 Jazz Educator of the Year. In addition, he was the 32nd member inducted into the 1995 IAJE Hall of Fame along with Ella Fitzgerald and Doc Severinson, joining luminaries such as Count Basie, Duke Ellington, and others. Dr. Aitken is only one of four individuals in the world who have received induction into both organizations' Hall of Fame.

His activities as a conductor, performer, composer, clinician, adjudicator, and producer of educational events have led him to all corners of the globe. In May 2007, he conducted the top military band in China, the Peoples' Liberation Army Band of China for the opening dedication of their new concert hall in Beijing, China. His recent travels to Kurdistan, Iraq in July 2007 earned him recognition from both ABC Nightly News and Jazz Times magazine. Since that time he has spent many months in Iraq as well as other Middle Eastern Countries developing and directing jazz and wind ensembles.

In February 1985 Dr. Aitken received a prestigious Grammy Nomination for UNC's CD Hot IV, the only institution of higher education to receive such an award.

Dr. Aitken is Professor Emeritus at the University of Northern Colorado (USA) and Guest Professor of Music at the Shanghai Conservatory (China).

Gene Aitken是当今最具影响力和最受尊重的音乐教育家之一，特别他在爵士音乐的教育工作方面得到了充分的认可。2008年10月他指导的第一支全部由学生组成的爵士乐团在上海音乐学院举行了音乐会。并在2008年6月他作为第一个美国外交部文化特使前往尼泊尔。2007年Gene Aitken入选“强拍”杂志中的“爵士教育家名人堂”并被评为2007年年度爵士教育家。此外他作为第32位会员与Ella Fitzgerald和Doc Severinson一起加入了1995年的“IAJE名人堂”，加入该名人堂的还有Count Basie, Duke Ellington等等。在世界上只有4个人同时享有两个名人堂会员，Gene Aitken便是其中之一。

Gene Aitken以不同的角色，指挥、演员、作曲家、教育家、评委、教育节目主持人等身份在世界各地参加各种活动。2007年5月，在北京中国人民解放军军乐团新落成的音乐厅的开幕式上他指挥了这支中国最顶尖的军乐团。2007年7月他前往库尔德斯坦和伊拉克，美国广播公司晚间新闻和爵士乐时代杂志对他做出了高度赞誉。自那时以来，他花了很多月在伊拉克等中东国家，发展指导爵士乐和管乐团。1985年2月，Gene Aitken获得了格莱美UNC's CD Hot IV奖，这是唯一为高等教育创立的一项大奖。
